Un/settled Multiculturalisms: Diasporas, Entanglements, Transruptions

Synopsis

This anthology reconsiders the meanings of multiculturalism in the West. In introducing a new conceptual language, the volume stresses the importance of distinguishing between the multicultural as a signifier of the unsettled meanings of cultural differences, and multiculturalism as the signified of attempts to fix their meaning in national imaginaries. The book also casts the debates about multiculturalism in the contexts of globalization, post-colonialism, and what Barnor Hesse calls multicultural transruptions--which he sees as resurgent, irrepressible multicultural issues.
